Consent, Capacity, and Substitute Decision-Making: Ethical Fundamentals

Jeremy Butler, Ethicist, Providence Care

Abstract: In this presentation, I review some foundational ethical ideas related to informed consent, decisional capacity, and substitute decision-making. I also introduce practical strategies for navigating ethical issues related to informed consent in the clinical context.

Goals and Objectives

1. Understand the ethical basis for the commitment to informed consent in healthcare
2. Describe common misconceptions about consent, capacity, and substitute decision-making
3. Apply practical strategies to address ethical issues related to informed consent in the clinical context

CME Accreditation – Physician attendees will be eligible to receive one Section 1 Continuing Professional Development (CPD) credit as certified by the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada.
